BERNARD BARTON. October may, upon the whole, be designated a melancholy month-more, however, from the associations of ideas which it suggests, than from any peculiarity in the state of the atmosphere in which it is enshrouded. A chronicler of the months has remarked that "October bears pretty much the same character in the fall of the year as April does tially correct. We have, indeed, in October, clear skies and fogs; drouth and rain, sunshine and storm; but their succession is more sedate, their attentions more matron-like than the girlish fickleness and changefulness of April; nor is the effect on the mind law. of April; nor is the effect on the mind less striking. In April, with its sunshine and its showers, we are conscious of an elasticity of feeling, and are ready to spring forward to meet the advances of the glorious summer. In October, on the contrary, the mind naturally gives way to a feeling of repose, "calm contemplation and poetic ease." Dr. Drake, in his "Evenings in Autumu," has some fine reflections on the subject. "It is," says he, "as combining the decline of the day with that of the year, the period both of beauty and decay, that an evening in autumn becomes so generally the parent of ideas of a solemn and pathetic cast. Not only, as in the first of these instances, do we blend the sunset of physical with that of moral being, but a further source of similitude is unavoidably suggested in the failure and decrepitude of the dying year, a picture faithfully, and in some points of view, mournfully emblematic of the closing hours of human life. "With the daily retirement of the sun, and the gradual approach of twilight, though circumstances, as we have seen, often associated in our minds with the transitory tenure of mortal existence, there are usually connected so many objects of beauty and repose as to render such a scene in a high degree soothing and consolatory, but with the customary decline of light are now united the sighing of the coming storm, the eddying of the withered foliage-

Incessant rustles from the mournful grove, Oft startling such as, studious, walk below, And slowly circles through the waving air.

Like leaves on trees the race of man is found, Now green in youth, now withering on the ground Another race the following spring supplies, They fall successive, and successive rise; So generations in their course decay, So flourish these, when those are passed away.

THE GREAT EASTERN AND SEA SICKNESS. Like all new things, much prognostication of failure has been indulged in with regard to this vessel, it is sufficient that she is the largest vessel in the world for people to find out all the shortcomings possible. But there is one thing which if she accomplishes will make up for all possible failures of another kind. If she accomplishes the great feat of enabling bad sailors to cross the ocean without being sick, she will revolutionize sea transit, increasing the amount of travellers in the same proportion as modern railways compared with the old stage coaches. Sea sickness is induced by the upheaving of the diaphragm in proportion as the rising and fallmoving lever, uplifting stem and stern al- Dr. R. H. Stabler, ternately. Yet strange to say, there are Christopher Neale, people to be found who maintain that the larger the vessel the more she will pitch and roll. They forgot that a large log is undisturbed by the ripple on a sheet of water, while a small toy vessel is incesantly moving and tossing, taking every angle of the rip ple in its departure from the horizontal line. The question is only one of proportion. If the waves be large, the vessel must be much larger to prevent any disturbance. But the objectors persist in regarding the waves as solid ridges upon which this long vessel is to rock, forgetting that the weight of the vessel will sink into these ridges till the displacement is sufficient to support her .-She will make a straight hoizontal course through the waves, while their crests and valleys undulate alongside. If 700 feet of length be not enough to accomplish this we must go to 1,000, till we have ruled the waves .- Once a Week.

THE McFLIMSEYS .- The New York Express charged the ladies with over dressing. Miss Flora McFlimsey sends a letter in reply. We quote: "I call upon you first, sir, to look at me in my ball dress; and I select that because it is supposed that a woman in a ball dress is the costliest dressed of all women. Sir, I have not clothes enough on, as every body can see, to keep a woman warm, to say nothing of what propriety and deceney require. There is not a beggar in New York who does not go into the street with more clothes than I have on; and yet you have the impudence to abuse me, when I reiterate with solemn truth, my Nothing to wear.' There is nothing on my arms; look at them, sir, for you may as well look at them as any other body in the street. There is nothing on my arms, from my wrists onward and upward, as you can readily see. Eve herself, in Paradise, was scarcely with less clothing than I have here on these two arms. Then, there is nothing on my neck or next to nothing; and if a poor, humble woman of this world can wear less on her shoulders than I, the Belle Flora, wear, I should like to see and aid the poverty of that hapless woman. My robe is looped up over my shoulders: and hence the neck, bust, arms, &c., that God blessed me with when I came into the world, are just as he gave them to me! Now, sir, if you do not blush when you see this, or when I tell it to you, all I can say is, blushing has departed from man.

THOMPSON'S HAIR RESTORATIVE. GEORGETOWN, D. C., May 2d, 1859.

MR. JAMES THOMPSON: DEAR SIR: MY hair becoming harsh and falling off considerably, I was recommended to try your HAIR RESTORATIVE, which, after the use of two bottles, my hair became quite soft and beautiful, increasing very much in growth. All those wishing a thick and beautiful head of hair, I recommend to use your Hair Tonic.

Yours respectfully, G. W. GREEN. FAIRPAX COURT HOUSE, Feb. 15th, 1858.

MR. The Charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others, than any Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one-eighth of the amount ne would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the in-sured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the ombination of the

CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering pros-pects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety KETTLEWELL'S MANIPULATED GUANO. WE caunot present to the Agricultural commu-nity more complete and satisfactory testi-mony of the value of this FERTILIZER, than is contained in the following letters, from well known parties in Virginia and Maryland.

W. H. FOWLE & SON, Agents,

No. 4 South Wharves.

Linden, September 3d, 1859.

Linden, September 3d, 1859.

Dear Sir:—I promised to give you a candid statement of the statemen Join Kryllawall, 18-9.

Bear Sir:—I promised to give you a candid statement of the result of the use of your Manipulated Guane on my crops of this year. The result of the wheat harvest in Eastern Virginus, as you know, was anything but satisfactory. I think it due to you, however, to state, that my crops were quite as good. I might perhaps say, with truth, better, than those of my neighbors. I used your Guano principally, and in small quantities, in various ways. I am satisfied that the yield of grain was quite as large, indeed larger than from many fields in the neighborhood dressed with Peruvian Guano. The season was very unfavorable for fertilizers, and probably most so for Peruvian Guano, which forced the wheat forward, and caused it to encounter the early rust.

which forced the wheat forward, and causes a country rust.

I may say, however, that I am satisfied with your Guano, and shall send you a large order in a few days. Having visited your works, and witnessed the manipulating process, and had from you full and candid explanations of the whole business, I am satisfied, not only of the thoroughness, but of the entire fairness of the operation. Under this impression, I take pleasure in recommending your enterprize to the patronage of my brother farmers. Yours, truly, WILLOUGHRY NEWTON.

PRINCE GEORGE'S, August 25, 1859.

PRINCE GLOBOLES, August 25, 1859.

John Kettlewell, Esq.
Dear Sir:—I received your note some time since, asking a word from me in reference to your Manipulated Guano.
I have to say, that I have used it upon wheat, eats, and tobacco, somewhat extensively, and in all cases am satisfied with the result, and shall use it so long as I obtain the same good results. I have not experimented with it as compared with other Guano that I have used, but am better pleased with the results of yours than any other that I have used. My wheat and oats, where it was applied, ripened beautifully. The last sowing (with your Guano) was harvested before the early without Guano—the straw light and grain full. The tobacco ahead of that alongside on better land. Respectfully yours,

West River, July 24, 1859.

WEST RIVER, July 24, 1859. John Kettliwell, Esq.

Dear Sir;—The effect of the Manipulated Guano, No. 1.

(procured from you) on tobacce, has been so marvellous, that I consider it my duty to voluntarily furnish you with that I consider it my duty to voluntarily furnish you with this statement.

I bought last Spring only 1½ tons of it, to apply to a few knolls in an otherwise rich field—capable, in good seasons, of producing 30 bushels of wheat, or, on stubble, 1,000 ibs, of tobacco, per acre. There were, however, a few spots so poor, that I felt convinced they would not pay for the labor of cultivation without being curiched. I therefore applied to them about 300 lbs, of your mixed Guanos to the acre, broadcast, and plowed it before laying off. The plants in broadcast, and plowed it before taying on. The plants these spots stood remarkably well, and seemed to grow of almost immediately after being set, and have continued, up to this time, far ahead of all other portions of the crop. So marked is their superiority, that the eye at once traces the extent of the application of the fertilizer; and it would be worth your while to come down and see for yourself. I am satisfied that I should have profited by a similar application to the outing field, expectally, as, from former experience, the outing field, expectally, as, from former experience, the outing field, expectally, as, from former experiences. tion to the entire field, especially as, from former exper e. I have a right to anticipate a most beneficial result in its use on the succeeding crops of wheat and clover. Respectfully, your obedient servant. GEORGE W. HUGHES.

ROCKVILLS, August 25, 1850. ROCKVILL August 25, 1859.

Mr. John Kettlewell.

Sit:—I purchased of your a quantity of your "Manipulated Guano" hast Fall, for my wheat crop, and drilled in one of my fields 100 pounds to the acre, and I think I have made 30 bushels of wheat to the acre. I used through the centre of the field, No. I Peruvian Guano, at the same rate, and the wheat on this part is no better than on the other. I had turned in a heavy crop of clayer. In another field, or out wheat on this part is no better than on the other. I had turned in a heavy crop of clover. In another field, or out stubble, I drilled in L50 pennds of the Manipulated Guano to the acre, and I think the yield of wheat to the acre will be 30 bushels. I shall use your Guano this Fall.

Yours most truly,
